Marriage, Divorce, And Remarria Marriage, Divorce, And Remarria Author: Kenneth E. Hagin Rating: 8.43/10 Description: There is a natural law in the kingdom of heaven, and I have determined that a man is to be separated from his wife if he doesn't walk in that law. In the light of the Bible, I want to give some direction to married couples so they can see what God is requiring in marriage. Marriage is a covenant relationship. God created it. Jesus established it. And God has given us a pattern of how to live together. The Bible teaches that, although a man and a woman cannot live together in purity, they are to live in harmony as long as they are married. God has created a covenant of marriage, and this is a relationship that is to be honored by God. That being said, if a man doesn't honor his wife, he's rejecting God's covenant, which makes him unloving. He may be justly objecting to his wife's bad behavior. But if he keeps his wife out of his heart, there is no justice. He is still being unloving. God said, "A man shall leave his father and mother and be joined to his wife, and they shall become one flesh." If a husband is just being assertive, it is not a form of separation. If, however, a wife is just being rebellious, then a husband has his freedom to leave her. A husband can leave his wife, but the Bible says that a man cannot leave his wife without providing the other party with a legitimate reason. A wife, however, has the freedom to divorce her husband. God's Word makes it clear that a woman has a greater need for her husband than a man has for his wife. We must remember that a wife was designed by God to be a helpmeet for her husband. If a husband is not fulfilling his responsibility as a helpmeet, then the marriage is in trouble. That doesn't mean the marriage is in trouble just because a husband is being abusive. In a healthy marriage, both parties should be filled with compassion for each other. In fact, that is the highest form of love. But if one of the parties is rejecting God, and is unloving to the other, then a husband has his freedom to leave. There is a great temptation for women to say, "I know I'm not my husband's helpmeet. He's not fulfilling his responsibility. So I have a right to leave him." I don't agree with that. God said that the responsibility of a woman is to be the helpmeet for
