While it may be hard to see the information in the tweet, she is not in trouble for asking. While on holiday, Dr. Madeleine Albright @drlalbright tweeted this: "Just arrived at #SpringHill. This is going to be a fabulous hotel. Looking forward to spending a few days there during our visit to the UK." The tweet is where the trouble began. As Albright said in an interview, "two or three people on Twitter had a problem with my age. They were concerned about it, and that was disturbing." The alarm bells were ringing, and she took down the offending tweet. Why? Albright explains why she is not in trouble: "I think it's very serious when people hold people in high position to an impossibly high standard, and that's one of the reasons why I think Twitter is so powerful, because it really brings down the barriers, and it gives everyone, including public figures, a little more room. "It is perfectly possible to avoid offending people with a line like that and still f30f4ceada
