Netcad is the 3D solid modeling program at the heart of all that is both awesome and beautiful about CadSoft and SolidWorks. The main reason why Netcad is free is because free is great. We were also inspired by the idea that as 3D printing moves from hobbyist to industrial applications, 3D modeling needs to be accessible to as many people as possible. Our free users can create and save their creations as.dwg files. These.dwg files can be shared with others to collaborate on projects in a safe and easy way. Many other users have access to the.dwg files and can view and modify them without having a license. As part of that shared access process, other users' changes are sent to us and integrated into the main program code so others can also benefit from your updates. When you or someone you know has a problem or an idea they want to share with us, we do our best to get back to you quickly. We think that openness is the best way to develop a good software program.
