A prospective study. The aim of this study was to evaluate the outcome of elderly patients treated surgically for hip fracture. The authors reviewed the charts of 151 patients, treated consecutively by a single surgeon at a mean follow-up period of 2.9 (range, 0-5) years, to assess mortality and morbidity, functional outcome, and degree of satisfaction. Mortality was 25.2% (perioperative: 23.8% vs. late: 26.5%). The percentage of patients remaining in their own home 2 years after surgery was 37.3%. Sixty-eight patients (46.6%) were able to return to their previous level of function. These results are better than those reported in other papers. One hundred three patients (69.1%) were satisfied or very satisfied with the outcome. The authors believe that a policy of standardized surgical management of hip fracture is justified in order to achieve acceptable results. Slideshow (2 images) MOSCOW (Reuters) - Russian President Vladimir Putin and Ukrainian leader Volodymyr Zelenskiy agreed on Friday to work towards creating border free trade zones, but Russia did not agree to extend any trade agreements with Kiev. Ukrainian officials have repeatedly said since their April 21 election that they will not sign a free trade agreement with Russia until the question of Crimea, a territory annexed by Moscow, is resolved. In a statement, released by the Kremlin after Putin and Zelenskiy met in the Black Sea resort of Sochi, Putin and Zelenskiy said they had agreed to create "four border-free trade zones" in areas around the Black Sea and on Russia's Pacific coast. "At this stage we have made certain statements regarding trade between Russia and Ukraine, but no agreements in this regard have been reached. This is another negotiation we will continue," Putin told a joint news conference with Zelenskiy. Putin said the
