similar software: well, we have our own products, we sell them in the same way. we have the premiere pro plugin available for about $99, both the apple and avid versions of the film con report as welcomed priced. contact: please contact us through email with any questions you may have regarding a digital anarchy product. you will find the support staff knowledgeable and friendly. you can also connect with the digital anarchy team through facebook, or follow us on twitter. aperture priority when you are shooting sports or action, you generally use aperture priority to lock in focus and exposure. but when that is easy, you have to think about depth of field. when you want your subjects to be in focus but the background is blurred, this is called aperture priority. when you want the background in focus but not your subject, you use shutter priority. when using shutter priority you have to control the shutter speed carefully. but when you are using aperture priority on the other hand, the camera will help you set the aperture automatically. now you can use shutter priority only when you want to do a long exposure for example to capture light. but aperture priority is great for action, sports, and when it comes to focus and exposure you want to lock them in. affordable pricing of course, good software shouldn't be cheap, but it's simply amazing how cheap many video plugins are. if you plan to make a lot of videos, buying the pro edition is a good idea and its guaranteed to work. but if you plan to do videos just for your own fun, you might just want to buy the basic version. flicker free pro edition is only $30. 5ec8ef588b
