Ueska na urdanje podjele This is a record of my journey through cooking the traditional way. How the Portuguese introduced rice to India The Portuguese imported rice as early as 1290 and they introduced it to India in 17th century. The Portuguese explorers or the traders were the first to introduce rice cultivation in India. The traders got the idea of importing rice from Portugal. They brought rice with them. The Portuguese made a lot of profits selling the rice to merchants. The Portuguese introduced rice cultivation in many coastal districts of Goa, Kerala, Andhra Pradesh and Karnataka. Cultivation of rice started in coastal districts of East and Southeast India. Rice cultivation expanded to West coast of India in the late 17th century. Rice cultivation spread across India in the 18th century. The climate of the coastal and hinterland districts of South India is favourable for the cultivation of rice. Southern India consists of hinterland and coastal districts. The climate of these districts is very ideal and suited for cultivation of rice. Modern Rice Cultivation Modern Rice cultivation started during the end of 19th century. The area under the cultivation of rice increased. The area under the cultivation increased from 345,000 hectares in 1900 to 836,000 hectares by 2000. The production of rice increased from 11.1 million tons in 1900 to 29.7 million tons in 2001. India is second largest producer of rice after China. India is the largest rice importer. About 60% of the rice consumption is met by imports in India. The modern intensive cultivation of rice has also led to declining yields. Rice Cultivation in India Rice cultivation in India is a great industry. The total area under the cultivation of rice in India is 0.10 million hectares. Out of this area, the area under the cultivation of rice in 2000 was 0.63 million hectares. Rice cultivation has increased from 3.4 million tons in 1900 to 38.6 million tons in 2000. Rice is the staple food for a large number of people in India. Rice is grown in all states of India and many states produced the most rice. The states of Gujarat and Tamil Nadu have been producing and exporting rice. In all states, some of the major players in the rice industry have emerged. These include Maharashtra, Kerala, Karnataka and Punjab. Rice is a very important import item. India is the second largest exporter of
